. * Pickup truck.

A truck with a cargo bed and side walls, regardless of seating capacity within the cab.

(a) A pickup truck will receive a commercial registration except as provided in subdivisions (b) and (c) of this section.

(b) A pickup truck which is used exclusively for non-commercial purposes with an unladen weight of 5,500 pounds or less, and with no business advertising may receive a passenger registration, at the registrant's option. This subdivision shall also apply to pickup trucks weighing 5,500 pounds or less that are leased and rented, provided that the lessee or renter of the pickup truck certifies on a form, provided by the leasing or rental company, that the pickup truck shall be used exclusively for non-commercial purposes. No rental or leasing company shall permit the renting or leasing of a pickup truck if the renter or lessee fails to complete the certification required by this subdivision or if such company knows or has reason to know that the renter or lessee is operating a pickup truck for commercial purposes.

(c) A pickup truck which is used exclusively for non-commercial purposes with an unladen weight over 5,000 pounds, with no business advertising, with the bed completely enclosed by a camper top, with at least one side window in the camper top, and with seats, seat fittings or camping equipment mounted in the bed, may receive a passenger registration, at the registrant's option. These modifications must be permanent. Camping equipment means that a bed, stove or refrigerator must always be in the vehicle. Any use of the truck without these modifications requires the vehicle to be registered as a commercial vehicle.
